Minister's Message:

This upcoming weekend is the celebration of Father's Day. We take a few moments to reflect and give thanks for those we have known as our earthly fathers. We also pause and recognize how awesome it is to have a relationship with God in this same role. I feel so blessed to have had my dad for a long, long lifetime. I have many fond memories of him, but one you have perhaps heard me share before. I share it again anyway. It was parent's weekend at Lynchburg College. I was excited, I had made the college soccer team. My ministerial advisor then told me that same week, he had a student church for me to go serve. I told him that would be impossible since I had made the team. He encountered my dad that weekend and said, "Mr. Bishop, I thought you sent your son down here so we could make a minister out of him. He just refused a student church." My dad smiled at the professor and said, "Well Dr. Stanger, I think my son has all his life to maybe preach, he probably won't have all his life to play soccer." My dad had my back. Little did he know I would do both for a great part of my life.

No better words than those of Henry Van Dyke: "What do I owe my father? Everything. He was my best friend; a parent who knew how to be patient with an unruly child; a preacher of joyful faith, who practiced what he taught, a good companion in the woods and the library, a fearless man with a kind heart; a Christian without pretense or bigotry, a true American gentleman of the democratic type. Every day I give thanks for him." Let us continue to give thanks for those who have shared so much with us during our lifetime. Let us also spend significant moments in prayer this week for those who suffer from the atrocities in Orlando. May healing come to those in their moment of need. None of us can even imagine.

.....Larry
