Minister’s Message:

What a joy it has been this week at the church, Vacation Bible School. I was teasing the leaders last night informing them that Vacation Bible School, used to be for two weeks and was held during the day. Rev. Phillip W. Martin writes of his past experience with this worthwhile ministry. Listen to his evaluation:

“I didn’t know about the volunteers, but I was exhausted, mentally and physically. That night I called my folks to let them know how it went. In all honesty, I called to let them know how ridiculously hard I had worked and how as a child I never realized Vacation Bible School was that draining and, to be totally honest, I expected my parents to praise me up one side and down the other. I was sure they’d think no one had ever worked as hard as I did in the V.B.S. But when I got done with all my complaints and embellishments about how grueling it was, how I clearly deserved better, my mom’s response was, “So? Well, yeah. Sounds like every V.B.S. I’ve ever done. It was exhausting in the eighties when you were a child. It’s tiring for the adults, but the kids love it. What did you expect, Phillip?”

Hard work has been the standard for all the adults this week here at the church. But these youngsters have received such caring attention, positive affirmation, and a memorable experience that will be long-lasting. A note of thanks to all who have made it possible, especially Lindsey Florence and Becky Northcutt who have directed the activities. Please be present Sunday morning, second service, as the youth will share some of the week’s activities. I also remind you to be a part of the closing exercise on Sunday afternoon at Marie Hehr Park at 5:00 P.M. Meat and drinks will be provided, please plan to bring a side dish or dessert to share.
