Minister's Message:

I came across this prayer by Julianna Miner the other day. It had to do with the first day of school and reads as follows: "Please God help my children to:"

- ....Be nice to everyone, especially those people who could use some extra kindness.
- ....Remember their stuff because last year they forgot everything always.
- ....Learn how to ask for help if they don't understand something.
- ....Try hard and have a good attitude. We care a lot more about them than we do about their grades.
- ....Make real friends. Even if it's only one or two friends who lift them up and never push them down.
- ....Be respectful of the teachers, counselors, principals, and all who work in their schools.
- ....Tell me about their days, especially the boy. Based on what he told me last year, if I didn't watch him get on the bus in the morning, I wouldn't even know he went to school.
- ....Please let them have some really, really awesome moments. When bad things happen, help them find a lesson in it.
- ....Lastly God, please don't let them get so big this year that they no longer want to snuggle with me on the couch, because that would break my heart forever. I just need a few more years of couch snuggles and I might be able to handle high school and college."

Here is wishing all students, all educators, and all parents a very meaningful, informative and enjoyable year.

.....Larry
